Outsourcing benefits are easy to conceptualize, but implementation and accrual of profits require intelligent diligence. For long industry insiders have felt the need for a common platform of repute addressing the concerns of buyers and vendors alike – a global platform for smart brainstorming and networking for effective value creation for all stakeholders. The cross continental nature of industry, with buyers and vendors separated by oceans, time zones and cultures makes it imperative for all to come together under a common umbrella and make a collective effort to catapult the industry into the next orbit.
